

Metatronic Healing

This powerful new-frequency therapy both heals and raises vibratory levels, reports Rachel Hindle

As the global changes in frequency quicken their pace, modern-day energy healing hits many levels, from physical and spiritual to mental and emotional.

Evolving way beyond conventional healing of the past, the newer frequency systems offer fresh insight into the dynamics of healing, combined with a powerful dual purpose – to restore the whole whilst raising vibratory levels simultaneously. This takes people to sophisticated levels beyond those previously accessible to anyone, anywhere.

Following a series of traumatic life events, and after decades of previous experience as a natural healer and counsellor, Philippa Merivale 'graduated' – with a euphoric flash – receiving inspiration to move into new healing territory, following powerful divine instruction from spiritual being Metatron.

Recognising the significance of the extremely high frequencies and 'downloads', she quickly developed courses to teach the techniques of what became the Metatronic Healing system, across the globe.

Healing Effects

Metatronics' potent healing combines spiritual surgery, aura clearing and colour therapy. It reboots the energy system using transmissions and energy clearing work, and brings about deep life change from a cellular level. This is achieved by working with angelic invocation to bring alignment with the body's energies, identifying and releasing emotional and physical blockages, and infusing the body with new life force.

To 'take the story out of the body, energetically,' a spiritual recalibration using light and energy takes place which gets to, and dissolves, the root cause of the issue; something conventional medicine fails to do.

Systematically, Metatronics has had a profound effect on those it comes into contact with. Philippa, who now heads up global development, begins, 'My energy body has changed since the launch, and it's recalibrated me on the way through just as it has with other people. In terms of results, the greater body of evidence so far has been on the emotional, spiritual and mental levels,' she adds. 'Because of the way I'm wired up, that's the type of person I draw to me personally. That said, I have had enough evidence to see the extreme results that happen physically, which always follow the emotional healing.'

Healer and psychotherapist Jean Whittle has used the system since inception at her practice in Malvern and feels it's 'Singularly the most powerful healing system I have ever used throughout my 18 years of practice.' Local client Rose comments, 'I have experienced Metatronic Healing several times for debilitating depression. I feel wonderfully energised every time, and the effects were immediate and lasting.'

Philippa says Metatronics is evolving all the time. It is now a five-step system, with five levels of training. Each one builds on what's gone before, fusing greater strength into the energy body. Every level also has a compound effect, so for those completing the foundation course and going on to intermediate, the levels expand dramatically.

'The energies in the teaching room become extremely strong,' Philippa says, 'and the core of what's taught comes through transmissions which are done in silence and relaxation mode. Metatronics creates shifts, clearing internal 'junk' out and we find some people attend for personal use, never intending to become practitioners, they benefit from what is essentially very intensive healing.'

Clare Glennon, Director of Metatronic Healing UK, has many examples of client feedback illustrating extreme results. Lisa, her client from Oxford begins, 'It's now four weeks since the session for my ME, and I wanted to let you know in that time I've experienced the most amazing surge in my energy levels! My heart has stopped banging so hard in my chest. All in all I feel like a new woman.'

London practitioner Lisa O'Connell provides group sessions of meditation working with Metatronic energies. Her Reading client, Rachel, says, 'Just being in Lisa's presence makes me feel very calm and relaxed. During the session I very quickly lose consciousness and then drift in and out of it, feeling colours wash over me. After the sessions I feel a profound sense of calmness and stability.'

The holistic system also works at end of life stage, which was drastically evident when Philippa received a phone call from a nurse who had recently trained in Metatronics. It concerned a lady in her eighties who was dying. The nurse talked to her for about half an hour and brought through Archangel Metatron as she did so. The lady died a few days later, and later the ward sister visited the nurse, saying, 'I don't what you did in that half hour, but the patient was totally different, and she died so peacefully.'

'What is notable for energy healing, is that the effects for every client are different,' says Philippa. 'The law in healing is you don't come to me and be healed – the healing is always between the person and God, or the higher self and the source. What one person is carrying differs to the next. Amazing miracles can happen within one session, and the energies continue to infuse the system long afterwards.'

British author Stuart Wilson in communion with the Angel Alariel says: 'Do not confuse Metatronic Healing with any of the new modalities which are now emerging, for it has a much vaster potential. As this system develops it will become what I can only describe as the Yoga of the New Age. This will involve the unrolling of a language of light, which is still on the fringes of what you can presently perceive, and that unrolling will prepare the way for many wonderful possibilities. If you think of this language as a higher frequency of music you will begin to glimpse its power and quality.'

Philippa says as founder, she feels a great sense of responsibility to send people out thoroughly trained as practitioners of excellence. 'Collectively,' she explains, 'we've moved on and this is an energy for the 21st century – it resonates now and it is actually a much more higher vibration than other healing

(modules) modalities, which are still very relevant, but it tends to enhance what people are already doing.'

The Cosmic Level

As to the future, the first stage of the system is complete. The final level is called the cosmic level where practitioners bring in the energies of the planets. Philippa explains, 'That's as far as we can see physically in our universe, we may need telescopes, but that's within our physical range – we can't point a telescope at St Germain or Christ – but we can do just that with Jupiter or Mars.'

She adds, 'We've reached the edge because the first-level energies are nebulous, expanding you. The second level goes right into grounding the energies, which are very metallic in essence. The third level is crystalline and that begins to expand you outwards again as crystals are deep inside earth, as physical things. The energies are brought right in from the purest light. With that complete, we reach right out to the cosmic energies, building on what's gone before, with more to come later.'

Does Metatron have further plans for you? 'Oh yes', Philippa smiles, 'we're not done yet!'
